

Notice

The author of this document is the inventor of the Tsunami, herein mentioned, and as such is qualified by neither training, background nor history, to draft such a document to be used by others for investment or other purposes.

The purpose of the document is solely to set forth a possible concept, created by the author, to offset or provide a solution to the creation of electrical energy, both for public use as well as to offset the high cost of desalinizing sea water.

The inclusion of the document “Federal Support for the U.S. Wind Power Industry”, contained in the Index is solely to show the interest as well as the areas of backing the Government has for such a proposed project.

Further interest or discussion should only be after seeking professional advice.
